

ABSTRACT

A pair of handle covers that are adapted for positioning over handles of a motorcycle. The pair of handle covers each have an open inner end and a closed outer end. The open inner end is closable via a drawstring. The drawstring has opposed free ends disposed outwardly of the handle cover. The free ends of the drawstring each have a grommet secured thereto. The pair of handle covers are positioned over the handles of the motorcycle as the motorcycle is positioned atop a transportation trailer. A pair of straps each has free ends having hooked fasteners. The grommets each receive the hooked fasteners from one of the free ends of the straps therein, and the hooked fasteners are then extended downwardly diagonal with the hooked fasteners of the other free end thereof coupling with the transportation trailer.
